DECA Diners by Jean Frost

Welcome to the DECA Social Corner. In addition to announcing DECA Diners and various other outings I would like to recognize new residents, recent marriages/unions and births. To do this we need to hear from you, so drop me a line if you have big news to share with your neighbors! And neighborhood representatives, I need your help, let me know if you have a new resident in your neighborhood. Let's get to know each other and stay connected for a stronger and safer community!

And Now for the Picnic News: Fourth Annual Picnic - NEW INFO!

Sunday, October 23rd 1:00 PM to 4:00 PM is the date and time to save for our Fourth annual picnic. The location is the same as last year, take Shallowford or Dresden to Frontier Trail and follow the signs to 2780 Pioneer Court. DECA will supply beer, entertainment, sodas, water, hamburgers, hotdogs and all the fixin's...whew! We ask you to bring yourself and a side dish, the same drill as last year- if your last name starts with the letter A - M bring a side dish, if it starts with N - Z bring a dessert.

We are currently seeking volunteers to donate tents and time...if you would like to lend a helping hand please give me a call and we'll put you to work. We need volunteers to assist in setting up and breaking down the venue (tables and tents). Anyone interested in assisting with the grocery shopping the day before, slice tomatoes, lettuce and onions?

Thank you to Dax of "D & Q Designs" for donating the decorations and balloons (you will be impressed with his design!), check out their website www.dqdesigns.info -Thank you to Sheila Rotter for donating the tables, and a very LARGE thank you to Mike Branum--our head chef and 'oh' so much more!

EXCITING NEWS: We are adding a new feature to the picnic this year - here is your chance to show off your creative talent(s). We are having an arts and crafts fair - this is for handmade/homemade new articles. Do you knit, crochet, bead, paint, sew, embroider, or do wood working? Here is your chance to display and sell your wares. Each person is responsible for marking the prices on each article, for any monies that you would need for change and also bringing your own table to display your articles. If you are interested in displaying your crafts or need any further information, please call June 770 455 8850 and leave a message.

MORE EXCITING NEWS: DECA is moving into the technological age with the way we track the number of attendees to our annual picnic. This will assist us greatly in purchasing food and supplies without running out of or wasting food. Contact me at jean.frost@metrobrowsers.com to receive an "EVITE" (an electronic invitation) through our decaonline@mindspring.com listserve. For privacy reasons we will not show the email list or the RSVPs. We have 185 email addresses but over 1400 households, so I've set the "EVITE" up so that anyone can add their neighbors' email address - and yes you are still invited even if you do not receive the "EVITE"!!!! Please call me with any questions. See you at the DECA PICNIC!

NIKKI'S NOTES by Nikki VanDerGrinten

Code Violation reporting

Recently, Janice Scranton (the department manager) and Officer Wallace (in charge of DECA area properties) have left the Code Enforcement Department.. Given the recent personnel changes, follow up of your previously reported concerns is recommended. Place reports/complaints: 404/417-1240 - you may do so anonymously or by referring to DECA. There is a new system that generates a "service request number" for each report taken. After the officer makes a site visit and issues a citation, a "case number" is generated for your future use, if needed.

CONTACT INFORMATION--

*Mitchell Purvis mpurvis@co.dekalb.ga.us (currently our area officer)

*Nancy Funny nsfunny@co.dekalb.ga.us is acting manager.

*Lisa Columbus lcolumbos@co.dekalb.ga.us supervisor of complaint collection staff.

All inspecting officers currently report to Officer Smith. Some people have found including County Commissioners on e-mail reporting very affective as well.

Ms. Funny reports to Officer Bush 404/294-2525 or 404/294-2450, e-mail: tsbush@co.dekalb.ga.us (last resort for inaction)

To summarize - if you want to have a violation 'handled and corrected', you must call, follow up, AND FOLLOW UP.

Recycling

As of Sept. 21, the DECA community had 7 recyclers. This is a start. Hopefully, that number will triple by the end of the year. The north & central areas of the county each has over 200. The east has 4 & the south has 24. Next quarter I'll report the number from each DECA neighborhood. Suggestion--See county sign up info included in this newlsetter. Not much to recycle at your house? Partner with a neighbor and split the service cost.

Zoning & Development

The Shallowford Lodge has withdrawn it's rezoning application. It became evident that the requested re-zoning was intended to make the property more marketable.

The word is that Michelle court has been purchased for conversion to condos by the same company that remodeled Ramsgate Apts. Surveyors, observed along Dering Circle and Capehart Circle in Wakefield Forest are private contractors working for the county. Thanks to the persistence of Judy Brooks, it appears that the flooding problem that has plagued that intersection for so long will soon be remedied.

Dresden Park

Connie Gray, from Parks & Rec, will be supervising the creek restoration project @ Dresden Park. The first workday is scheduled on Nov. 19, 9am (Meet at the Park entrance). We will be removing invasive underbrush, which will result in a safer & more beautiful creek running through our park. Working with Connie is a real treat. Hopefully there will be a bunch of DECA folks willing to embrace this effort.

"Islands in the Sun"

The islands are more or less established with plant materials. They have been regularly weeded during this summer. Therefore, we will not have one workday to take care of all of them. Instead, each group will assess their own garden then set a date to work if needed. The NAGS group has given up their island. Publix is interested in tending this space. Thanks to all the folks from Hawthorne who have been diligently weeding so that the take-over won't be so daunting of a task.

Getting Your Dollar's Worth on Home Improvements

Used by permission and submitted by Ursula Lentine, neighborhood realtor

So you've decided to take the plunge and redo the kitchen, or put on a sprawling new deck, or add that central air conditioning you so desperately wanted last summer. The contractor is ready to go, and you suddenly have a concern you hadn't thought of before: Is this a good investment? How well a remodeling project pays back on its initial cost is dependant on a number of factors. For example, the payback on remodeling in general is better in a hot real estate market where homes are moving quickly, as opposed to an area where the market is slow.

You also want to consider the type of project you're undertaking, and how it relates to the homes in your area. If the market around you is particularly good for homes with two bathrooms, and you want to add a second bathroom to your current one-bath home, the return on investment will be better then if you had spent the same amount of money to add a third bathroom to your existing two. Another example of this is the danger of overbuilding. If you construct a room addition and make your house 2,600 square feet in a neighborhood of 1,700-square-foot homes, chances are that the percentage of payback versus investment will be pretty low. If you are planning on doing all or most of the remodeling work yourself, you can typically reap some rewards by keeping the investment for the project lower than if you had hired a contractor to do it. But remember – that reward assumes that you can do a quality job. If you construct a room addition that doesn't blend with the existing house, or do a quick and shoddy kitchen remodel with bargain-basement materials, you may actually end up lowering the value of your home.

With all that said, here is the typical percentage of payback per dollar spent for a number of popular remodeling projects. Remember – these are only averages compiled from a number of different survey sources, and may vary considerably for your particular home:

Minor kitchen remodeling: approximately 94 percent to 104 percent.

Install central heating system: approximately 100 percent to 102 percent.

Major kitchen remodeling: approximately 90 percent to 94 percent.

Bath addition: approximately 92 percent.

Bath remodeling: approximately 77 percent to 85 percent.

Central air conditioning*: approximately 75 percent.

Family room addition: approximately 85 percent to 87 percent.

Decks: approximately 73 percent to 83 percent.

Replace windows*: approximately 68 percent to 74 percent.

Add a home office: approximately 55 percent to 65 percent.

Add landscaping: approximately 30 percent to 50 percent.

Remodel a basement: approximately 15 percent.

DECA's 10/20 Quarterly Meeting Special Topic: Living Will and Durable Power of Attorney for Healthcare

We will be discussing those documents so important to life and death decisions in the age of medical contraptions that can keep us alive indefinitely. To avoid the type of controversy among family members we saw a la Terry Schiavo, it is critical that our decisions about end of life matters be written down and distributed. Helping us with answers that clarify questions many of us have will be three members of St. Joseph's Hospital Staff--a chaplain, ethicist, and palliative care RN. They will provide documents for review and answer questions. You will make the final decisions in the privacy of your own home. Documents do not require notarization or preparation by a lawyer. This is open to the entire community. We want a full house, so please invite your friends!

Prior to this important program, we will conduct our business meeting. As workable, please pre-submit any new business to <<rbbakeratl@aol.com>>.

Bike/Ped Taskforce members & Other Interested Parties:

Please take a moment to participate in ARC's Envision 6 survey at: www.atlantaregional.com/transportationair/envision6.html. # PDK Report

Developments over the past six weeks regarding the airport have been very exciting and hold some concrete promise. As most readers are no doubt aware, the Feltus vs. DeKalb County "open records" lawsuit was decided in favor of the community (i.e., Mickey Feltus, Norma Herd, and all those who have backed the suit on the community behalf). Within only a few days the DeKalb County attorney's staff began to provide information requested in the lawsuit, as required by the judge in the case. At present the county continues to provide the information with little or no objection. The Feltus team is currently working to analyze the data on plane size and noise provided to date.

Donations to the Open DeKalb legal fund are still needed to ensure a "war chest" for future potential legal battles and to be sure we have enough to cover the hard work provided by the legal team to date. Please send donations to Open DeKalb, Inc. at P.O. Box 190895, Atlanta, Georgia 31119, or by visiting our website at www.opendekalbinc.org.

New PDK Airport Advisory Board members have been appointed and were introduced at the September meeting. At that meeting, several items of general discussion followed the business portion. Special kudos was given to Angel Flight operations helping the victims of hurricane Katrina. Information on volunteering to assist those operations is available from www.angelflight-ga.org, and we are sure they will be looking for volunteers following Rita. Among the items discussed was the nearly double cost of the Master Plan development proposal estimated by the Federal Aviation Authority (FAA) and possible coverage of the extra funds by FAA funds re-direction. Press coverage in the Atlanta Journal & Constitution within the week addressed the possibility that the FAA would not cover the cost. Stay tuned for updates on how this might affect the development of the Master Plan. Also, remember that these meetings are held the second Wednesday of each month at 6:30pm above the Trade Winds Restaurant. The more the merrier, though crowded!

A public informational meeting on the PDK Master Plan process was held at Maloof Auditorium on September 19. The meeting was attended by nearly 350 people, mostly from the communities affected by PDK. Brief presentations on the process and the mission of the airport were provided by airport staff and consultants. A short presentation by community representatives was also provided. The County CEO, Mr. Vernon Jones, emceed two-minute questions/comments from the audience for the remainder of the meeting. Comments were mostly from airport-affected citizens, with some dissenting opinions offered by some of the pilots who use the airport. Overall, those who attended believed the meeting was generally positive. Community representatives look forward to working with the airport staff and consultants on the development of the Master Plan.

One theme running through these past several meetings is the need to better engage the community members and the airport staff and board members in discussing and solving PDK-related problems. The decision on the lawsuit seems to have provided an opening for closer communication. We encourage everyone to attend advisory board meetings when possible and come with prepared questions.

Saferoutes to School

The Saferoutes to School team continues meeting with county staff to enhance safety conditions in the Dresden School pedestrian district (Parts of Dresden, Shallowford, Johnson, Plaster, Dresden Court, Roads).

Some recent developments--

- *Additional signage has been installed around the school, with more to come.
- *Additional street lighting will be installed on Dresden between Shallowford and Bragg.
- *400' guardrail at Arrow Creek and along Dresden Park has been requested and hoped to be approved soon for installation.

Saferoutes seeks a DECA Liaison, as the current representative will be leaving in December. Please contact Brian at 7/986-0907 for more info.
